The following defines "cookies" and summarizes the different types of cookies that we use or may use on bif.hu website ("Site"), as well as their purposes and lifespan (i.e. how long a "cookie" remains on your device).

1.What are cookies?

Cookies are files or pieces of information that are stored on your computer (or on other internet-enabled devices such as smartphones or tablets) when you visit the Site. A cookie usually contains the name of the website from which the cookie came, the "lifetime" of the cookie (that is, how long it stays on your device) and its value, which is usually a randomly generated unique number.

2.What do we use cookies for?

We use cookies to make the Site easier to use so that it provides you with a better user experience. We also use cookies to compile anonymous, aggregated statistics to better understand how the Site is used and to help us improve its structure and content. We cannot personally identify you from this information.

If you accept this "cookie" policy, it will also be stored in a cookie.

3.What types of "cookies" do we use?

The Website uses Google Analytics cookies. When you visit the www.bif.hu website, you are anonymously assigned a session ID, with which Google Analytics records the start and end times of your visit and the pages visited for statistical purposes, regardless of personal data. All new visitors will be informed about this practice at the time of their first page download. The purpose of the anonymous session IDs and cookies used by Google Analytics is statistical.

4.Deactivating "cookies"

Most internet browsers are initially set to accept cookies. You can change your settings to block cookies or get alerted when cookies are set on your device. There are several ways to manage cookies. Please refer to the browser information or help page to learn more about browser settings and how to change them.

If you disable the cookies we use, this may affect your experience while you are visiting the Site.

If you use different devices to view and access the Site (e.g. computer, smartphone, tablet, etc.), please ensure that each browser on those devices is configured according to your cookie needs.

You can find information on how to set a "cookie" in the links below.
